Spanish Loyalists Say Revolt Spreads In Insurgent Areas

State Franco Artillery Shelled His Own City of Segovia

Machine Gun Fire Heard From Nearby

MADRID (AP)—Spanish government sources reported today Generalissimo Francisco Franco's artillery had shelled his own city of Segovia to put down a revolt in the insurgent ranks. The rebellion was said to be spreading through province after province.

Government observation posts reported a brisk conflict was going on in the city 43 miles northwest of Madrid. The crackle of machine gun and rifle fire within Segovia, the observers reported, could be heard plainly from the nearby government lines.

Insurgent artillery batteries were said to have opened fire on their own stronghold from Quita Pesares.

Reports from far to the south said revolt was widespread in the neighborhood of the city of Granada and that Franco's troops, rebelling against his regime, had used rifles and machine guns in an attack on the city.

PLANES OVER CITY

Then, these reports said, the revolting insurgents attacked the positions held by their former comrades in the vicinity. The fighting was said to have reached its height about noon Tuesday. Observers declared a squadron of insurgent warplanes had hovered low over Granada, but had not bombed the city.

The Valencia defence ministry said three Italian officers had been slain in street fighting between Spanish insurgents and their volunteer foreign allies at Malaga on the southern coast.

Insurgent authorities have consistently denied there was any disaffection in the territory gained by them in the more than a year-old Spanish civil war.

ON EASTERN FRONT

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier (AP)—Insurgent forces on the Teruel front in eastern Spain today opened a new drive toward the headwaters of the Tagus River, pushing government defenders from the village of Pias de Albarracin under heavy fire.

Government commanders acknowledged their troops had "evacuated" the village after a battle on the western edge of the salient thrust by Gen. Franco toward communication lines connecting Madrid and Valencia.

Market Control In B.C. To Go Ahead

Provincial Statute, Ruled Valid By Appeal Court, to Be Fully Enforced

Regulation of the marketing of agricultural products in British Columbia will proceed with strict enforcement of the Natural Products Marketing Act, it was indicated at the Legislative Buildings today after the Court of Appeal, in dissolving injunctions granted by Mr. Justice A. M. Manson to Vancouver interests, had again upheld the law as intra vires of the Legislature.

"The Marketing Act stands now as a valid part of the law of the province and as such will be enforced," Attorney-General Gordon Wismer declared this morning. "It was passed by the Legislature, has been tested in the courts, found good, and must be carried out."

Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, was gratified with

MERCY FLIGHT OF NO AVAIL

Frank Bonner, Flown Here From Port Alice, Died Today in Hospital

Frank Richard Bonner, who was flown here from Port Alice July 30, to enter hospital, died at St. Joseph's early this morning.

A member of the crew of the Government survey steamer, Wm. J. Stewart, Mr. Bonner was taken ill at Port Alice, following an emergency appendicitis operation.

A seaplane was chartered and flew from Vancouver to Comox, where it picked up one of the sick man's brothers, Constance Bonner, his only sister, and Mary Campbell, a nurse, and then flew to Port Alice. At Port Alice they found young Bonner so sick they decided he should receive hospital treatment.

LANDED AT ESQUIMALT

With Pilot Don Lawson at the controls, the plane flew from Port Alice in two and a half hours and landed at Esquimalt harbor, Bonner being removed to hospital by ambulance. Dr. H. E. Ridewood took charge of the case and for some days the patient improved.

The late Mr. Bonner was born in Cobble Hill 23 years ago and resided there with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Edward Bonner, until six months ago, when he moved to Victoria, residing at 912 Bank Street until joining the crew of the Wm. J. Stewart.

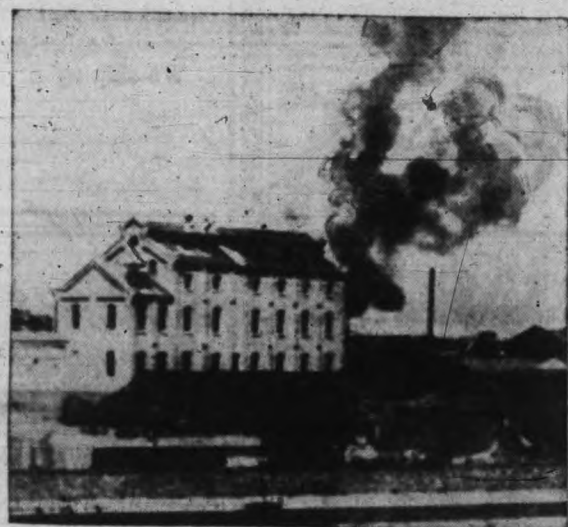

In addition to the parents there survive his sister, Constance, and four brothers, Frederick, Walter, Ralph and Norman, all at Cobble Hill, and three aunts and two uncles in England. The body is at Sands Mortuary Limited. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Glaciers Break Up in Norway

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Norwegian glaciers melted, it was so hot today.

A huge section of the base of Hardanger Glacier disintegrated under the intense heat and fell off into Demme Lake. The splash created a tidal wave 100 feet high which washed away 12 houses, destroyed nearby crops and filled fields with large boulders. No casualties were reported, however.

War Scenes in North China

These first pictures sent to Canada and the United States from actual scenes of fighting in the Peiping-Tientsin area, were received by The Times today. The upper photo shows Japanese soldiers behind a street barricade in Tientsin as they battled Chinese warriors near the gendarmie headquarters. A Japanese officer stood out in the open as he directed his men. The lower picture shows the flaming headquarters of Public Peace in Tientsin just after the building had been bombed by Japanese planes.

Mexico University Students on Strike

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Students of law, medicine, economy, commerce and the plastic arts at the University of Mexico went on strike today and took possession of the university building.

The students called the strike for alleged partiality in the election of the board of directors for the student body.

Tenders Called For Three New Ordnance Buildings

Provision for expenditure of another $125,000 to $130,000 on coast defence equipment was announced today by Hon. Ian A. Mackenzie, K.C., Minister of National Defence.

Tenders have been called for construction of three buildings at Esquimalt for ordnance stores purposes. Tenders will close September 10, it is announced.

This is part of the big programme of expansion in the coast defence facilities of the Dominion initiated by Mr. Mackenzie since taking over his portfolio.

The work, which will start as soon as possible after the tenders have been examined and the contract awarded, will provide a substantial amount of employment during the fall and winter months.

NEW YORK (AP)—Frederick Strauss, 72, for many years a partner in the banking firm of J. & W. Seligman & Co., died at his home here today of a heart attack. Soviet Executes 72 in Siberia

Largest Group Yet Put to Death in Russia's Far-flung Purge

MOSCOW (AP)—Execution of 72 alleged Far Eastern railroad wreckers accused of conspiring with the Japanese secret service was reported today by the Irkutsk newspaper East Siberia Pravda.

The executions followed others in series, but the group was one of the largest to be executed in Soviet Russia's far-flung Siberian purge.

The total of known executions now in this Far Eastern campaign to root out spies and wreckers is 320.

The Irkutsk band was described as made up of Trotskyist, rightist terrorists, who wrecked trains along the Siberian railway at the behest of the Japanese intelligence service, thus weakening Soviet transportation in the case of war with Japan.

Water Tank Bombed And Fires Reported In Doukhobor Area

Damage to Irrigation Slight; Railway Car and Hall Burned

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—Police reported today a railway car and a community hall had been fired and an irrigation tank had been bombed in the Grand Forks district Tuesday night.

A flat car loaded with wooden ties, owned by the Great Northern Railway, was set afire as it stood on tracks passing through the section of Grand Forks settled predominantly by members of the Russian religious sect of Doukhobors.

The car fire followed by two weeks the destruction of the Grand Forks station of the Great Northern. That fire was branded incendiary.

A community hall owned by the Doukhobors was burned to the ground near here.

A bomb placed under the Grand Forks irrigation surge tank at Carson, southwest of Grand Forks near the U.S. international boundary, exploded but damaged the tank only slightly.

Grand Forks is about 30 miles southwest of Nelson.

Last night's fires, reported by Constable McWharther of the British Columbia police here, were the first since August 1, when the Great Northern Station in Grand Forks and three barns in the Doukhobor-settled Slovan Valley, 100 miles to the northeast, were burned. At that time abortive attempts were made to set fire to two other buildings.

Guards at public buildings and bridges, withdrawn one week before the August 1 outbreak, were replaced shortly afterwards.

Police have so far made no arrests in connection with the fires, stating they can get no co-operation from members of the Doukhobor sect.

Ripple Rock Is To Be Removed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Removal of Ripple Rock, dangerous impediment at the south entrance to Seymour Narrows, B.C., will be recommended to the Dominion Public Works Department by Hon. Ian Mackenzie, he told a delegation from the Vancouver Merchants' Exchange.

The Minister of Defence, now a visitor here, said he would suggest a survey of feasible methods of removing the rock.

D. F. Dickson Of Vancouver Dies

VANCOUVER (CP)—David Farris Dickson, 52, well-known in the flour milling industry in British Columbia, died here today. Born in Annan, Ont., Mr. Dickson came to Vancouver 35 years ago, where he was associated with the Hedley Shaw Milling Company and the Ogilvie Flour Mills Company. He was a former vice-president of the Terminal City Club here.

Surviving him are two nieces and two nephews.

RUSSIAN ARCTIC CIRCLE FLIGHT

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet flight around the top of the world along the Arctic Circle, with Pilot Mikhail Shevelev in charge, was proposed today in the Communist Party newspaper Pravda.

The 12,000-mile flight would be routed by way of Alaska, Hudson Bay or Baffin Land, Greenland, Iceland, and the northwest Russian coast.

Shevelev, was assistant head of the recent North Pole expedition.

A third Soviet trans-Polar flight across Canada to New York with Pilot Sigismund Lavenevsky in charge has been reported awaiting only favorable conditions.

Champion of Last Two Years Beaten Today By J. W. Ruggles 1 Up

Defeat of Hon. John Hart, champion for the last two years, at the hands of J. W. Ruggles, fellow Victorian, featured the second round of match play in the grand championship of the 15th annual Seniors' Northwest Golf Association tournament at the Victoria Golf Club today. The score was 1 up.

Victoria placed three players into tomorrow's semi-finals, Bernie Schwengers, playing in his first seniors' tournament, H. G. Garrett and Ruggles. The fourth place went to R. E. Thatcher, Seattle, who turned back W. S. Babson, Portland, 1 up. Schwengers eliminated J. C. Macdonald, Vancouver, 2 and 1, and Garrett accounted for J. A. Duncan, Seattle, 3 and 1.

GREAT WALL BATTLE ENDS

Japanese Say Chinese Troops Fleeing From Burning Nankow

TOKIO (AP)—Flames lighted ramparts of the Great Wall of China, Japanese dispatches said Wednesday night, after a Japanese-Chinese battle at ancient Nankow Pass had resulted in a rout for troops of China's central army.

A heavy Japanese artillery bombardment had set Nankow city afire, said the advices.

(Japanese Domei news agency advices also told of the battle and the firing of Nankow city, with Japanese occupying positions in the environs, but said Chinese were holding stubbornly to some entrenchments in the area, 30 miles northwest of Peiping).

After sharp fighting with considerable losses to both sides, the Chinese troops were reported to have fled northward, tearing up tracks of the Peiping-Suiyuan railroad as they went to hinder a Japanese advance. The railroad runs through Nankow.

NANKING TROOPS

The Chinese troops were from the 89th Division of the central army. Other troops or that division were reported to be threatening an attack along the southwestern frontier of Jehol Province, about 150 miles northeast of Peiping.

Flames from burning Nankow city, said the dispatches, threw the nearby Great Wall into sharp relief. The Japanese had advanced on the city early in the morning from a walled town.

The pass, which overlooks the famous Ming Tombs, is the place at which Mongolian hordes in ancient times sought repeatedly to penetrate the Great Wall. It is also the gateway from the north China province of Hopei to the Mongolian province of Chahar.

Both Nanking and Japanese troops have been reported massing in the area since Japanese drove Chinese forces out of Peiping.

SHANGHAI (AP)—Japan choked Shanghai's Whangpoo River with a score of warships, scattered others to the mouth of the Yangtze and sent between 500 and 1,000 bluejackets into this city in the newest Japanese-Chinese crisis Wednesday night.

Two aircraft carriers, said unconfirmed reports, were waiting beyond the Woosung forts, which lie at the confluence of the Whangpoo and Yangtze.

Japanese naval authorities said events that were brought to a head by the Hungjiao airport slaying two days ago of a Japanese naval officer and a seaman and the deaths "mean the Japan's navy effectiveness in China must be increased."

Advance elements of Japan's first fleet, 12 destroyers and three light cruisers, led the way to Shanghai from Nippon, across the China Sea.

Those were the total of Wednesday's arrivals, said the Japanese, but foreign port authorities tallied 20 Japanese warships—15 destroyers and five light cruisers—jammed along the Shanghai waterfront.

TANKS ARE LANDED

Tanks and other mechanized equipment of war were put ashore. Two steamrollers were included for use in getting an airfield into shape as a base for operations.

Until the arrival of the Japanese naval units tension had been somewhat relaxed here after the clash between Chinese and Japanese at the airfield just west of the city, in which two Japanese were killed by Chinese guards. Japanese were understood to have given specific guarantees that no reinforcements would be landed for the defence garrison. Tuesday a detachment of 1,000 marines was brought in from the interior.

UNDER FORCED DRAFT

The ships which rushed to Shanghai today were said to have steamed under forced draft at a speed of 35 knots from the Japanese naval base on Kyushu Island, one of the main islands of Japan.

Rear-Admiral Roukuzo Sugiyama, Third Fleet chief of staff, declared the increase in Japanese naval forces at Shanghai did not indicate a change in Japan's "judicious calm" attitude toward the crisis.

"Recent events at Shanghai, however, constitute a threat to Japanese residents," he said. The Japanese officer and seaman slain at the airport were awarded posthumous promotion in rank.

Chinese and Japanese continued a crossfire of accusations on responsibility for the incident, and (Turn to Page 2, Col. 6)

Few Taxis Are At Work in Paris

PARIS (AP)—A combination strike threat and lock-out deprived Paris today of nearly all its taxicabs—famous the world over for their breath-taking speed and low rates.

An official order of the Seine prefecture raising taxi rates 25 per cent brought on the trouble.

Drivers for the big companies protested the increase on the ground it would reduce tips and threatened to strike. But when managers of the companies heard about the strike threat, they ordered all cars held in the garages.

LEAFLETS AT AUTO PLANT

United Auto Workers in New Effort at Ford's Main Factory

DETROIT (AP)—Members of the United Automobile Workers of America, carrying maps showing the boundary between public and private property, awaited the "zero hour" today to renew their attempt to distribute literature outside the main plant of the Ford Motor Co.

The state police and the Wayne County sheriff's and prosecutor's offices arranged to have "observers" on hand. The actual policing of the area rested with the city of Dearborn, where the mammoth industrial unit is located. The public officials acted in the hope of averting a repetition of the violence May 26 in which a score of U.A.W. members were injured while distributing leaflets to workers changing shifts at the factory.

Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan said he had requested state police to "use their good offices in negotiations to see that the rights of persons who want to distribute literature in a peaceful and legal manner are safeguarded."

Homer Martin, U.A.W. president, said he had been informed that "Ford slugs" had been ordered to prevent the taking of pictures and that metal weights had been piled on a building roof, "ostensibly waiting to be hurled at union distributors on the street below."

interior fruit. Various other contemplated schemes have been held up awaiting the court's ruling.

Although yesterday's hearing clears the issue for the time being, the fight over marketing control is not finished, for counsel for both respondents secured leave to take the matter to the Privy Council.

It will be the second time the highest tribunal in the empire has been asked to give an opinion on British Columbia marketing laws and the third time it has dealt with Canadian marketing.

An early attempt to regulate milk products going into Vancouver, the Dairy Sales Adjustment Act, was held ultra vires by the Privy Council some years ago.

Another law, the Produce Marketing Act, got as far as the Supreme Court of Canada, where it was thrown out.

Earlier this year the Privy Council ruled the Federal Marketing Act ultra vires of the House of Commons.

The Provincial Government had anticipated the present fight would go to London and is now hoping the issue can be settled.

In Moscow, meanwhile, the newspaper Literature reported the expulsion from the Communist party of the poet Alexander I. Bezimensky, who had been a member since 1916.

The paper said a meeting of writers which recommended the expulsion found the poet had been an active disciple of the exiled Leon Trotsky since 1923.

U.S. Court Bill Passed Today

Measure Sent to Roosevelt to Sign Does Not Embrace
Supreme Bench

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States House of Representatives ended this session's bitter court controversy today by approving the lower court procedure bill and sending it to the White House.

The legislation was embodied in a conference report which the Senate had accepted Tuesday without a word of debate.

Deleted from the measure were President Roosevelt's recommendations relating to the Supreme Court—providing for retirement of certain justices or enlargement of the court.

Chairman Sumners of the judiciary committee presented the conference report and made a brief statement explaining the measure.

"I believe this legislation will be welcomed and supported by the courts of the country," Mr. Sumners said.

The bill follows closely the agreement reached by Senate leaders when the Roosevelt high court proposals were sidetracked.

JAPAN RUSHES WARSHIPS TO SHANGHAI

no immediate diplomatic settlement was in sight.

Japanese consular officers cautioned Japanese residents to "maintain a calm attitude while authorities seek a settlement."

Consuls of other nations asked both Japanese and Chinese to prevent a spread of hostilities, but neither faction replied.

TOKIO (AP)—Slaying of a Japanese naval officer and seaman at Shanghai is considered as having gravely compromised whatever slender chance of peace remained between Japan and China.

Japanese officials Wednesday were reported awfully anxious to settle the Shanghai clash through diplomatic channels, lest it be the last step leading to a formally declared war and jeopardize their conquest of north China. The slayings—Japanese charge Chinese guards fired on the two without provocation—were taken, however, as still another indication of the fundamental seriousness of the breach between the two powers.

Japanese authorities were afraid China would strike without warning against Tokyo with the powerful Chinese fleet of trimotored bombing planes.

To offset this threat, construction of five new airdromes was ordered on the outskirts of Tokyo.

Because of the hostilities 10,000 Chinese students and other Chinese residents have left Japan and 7,500 Chinese have returned to China from Korea, Japan's possession on the mainland.

Simultaneously, thousands of Japanese are arriving from China. Japanese have evacuated practically all the large cities of China except Shanghai and Tsingtao.

Firing Is Heard Again in Tientsin

SHANGHAI (AP)—A sudden burst of firing was heard early Thursday about a mile south of the British and French concessions at Tientsin, the Domei (Japanese) news agency reported.

British and French authorities re-established precautionary patrols. The reported reappearance of Chinese plainclothesmen in the Japanese-won city also caused some apprehension.

SCUFFLES AT OFFICE OF THE SEATTLE STAR
SEATTLE (AP)—Continued publication of The Seattle Star was assured today when a group of men wearing teamsters' union buttons on their lapels escorted union printers into the newspaper plant and forced American Newspaper Guild pickets to retreat a block and a half.

While police stood nearby watching developments, fists flew and a few well-planted kicks were administered by the group insisting publication of the newspaper must not be hampered.

No serious injuries were reported.

All summaries now available on fatal accidents show on the average, that 7 per cent of the drivers and 11 per cent of the pedestrians had been drinking or were intoxicated.

Nereus Total Loss; To Be Sold "As Is"

Rocks Near Cape Beale
Lighthouse

The Greek freighter Nereus, aground on the west coast of Vancouver Island, about 800 feet from the Cape Beale lighthouse, is a total loss and will not be salvaged, but will be sold "as is, where is," it was decided this morning at a meeting of salvage operators, shipping agents, insurance underwriters and the captain and chief engineer of the doomed vessel.

The Salvage King, after returning the crew of the ship to Victoria Monday night, left yesterday morning for the scene of the wreck. She anchored off-shore about half a mile. A strong sea was running and the tides were sweeping in and out of the deserted vessel.

HARD AGROUND
Salvage operators made a survey of the ship and decided nothing could be done to take her from the rocks, where she is hard aground. She has no cargo, having been inbound from Japan to Port Alberni to load lumber for the United Kingdom.

Sale of the Nereus will have to be completed in a hurry, for the first storm that springs up in the "graveyard of the Pacific" will beat the poor old ship to pieces in a few hours. Already she is starting to disintegrate.

Meanwhile the crew of the ship is still in Victoria. Now that she will not be salvaged arrangements will be made to send the men home to Greece. They will cross Canada in a day or two and will sail from the Atlantic seaboard for Europe.

Dozens of small craft yesterday cruised around the Nereus as she shifted uneasily on the rocks. Her stern was high and dry and she was in a precarious position. No one was allowed on board, as a watchman was kept close by.

The Salvage King steamed through dense fog yesterday, on her way to the Nereus and back to Victoria. She returned to her berth in the Inner Harbor at 3:30 this morning.

THE WEATHER

The group will cross Canada by Canadian Pacific lines, and will sail from Montreal, August 17, by the liner Montrose.

One party will take torpedo training on H.M.S. Vernon at Portsmouth, and the other will undergo gunnery training on H.M.S. Excellent, the Whale Island gunnery training school at Portsmouth. These courses will last from six months to a year, after which the men will return to Canada.

The men leaving tomorrow are from the destroyers Skene and Fraser and from the barracks on Admirals' Road.

SALES TAX IN ALBERTA ENDS

Order-in-Council Lifts Provincial Levy of 2 Per Cent

CALGARY (CP)—Alberta's 2 per cent sales tax, which applied to articles used in the "cradle to the grave" and brought the provincial government a monthly revenue of $80,000, today stood suspended.

It had been scheduled to die September 1, but merchants, fearing purchasers would halt their buying schedules to after the first of the month, making August a "stagnant trade month," protested to the government.

The government bowed to the "will of the people." Hon. Solon Low, Provincial Treasurer, announced the tax suspension Monday night. Tuesday the cabinet confirmed his announcement, adopting, at a meeting in Edmonton, an order-in-council making the suspension effective from August 10.

"The sales tax is remitted from today," said the Provincial Treasurer. "It is the first duty of the Social Credit government to find out what the people want and give it to them."

The consumer paid the tax; the merchant was the collector for the government which now will suffer a loss in revenue of around $600,000 for the balance of the fiscal year, ending March 31, 1938.

SHIP FOUNDERED

MARACAIBO, Venezuela—More than 60 persons were estimated yesterday to have died when a holiday excursion boat, the Ana Cecilia, foundered in Lake Maracaibo Monday.

Bodies continued to be brought up from the wreckage. There were 200 oilfield workers aboard the vessel when she went down in heavy seas.

The government declared a three-day mourning period.

Smallpox On Empress Ship

KOBE, Japan—Smallpox developed today among the 312 Japanese refugees arriving aboard the Ss. Empress of Japan from China ports. More than 100 Canadian, United States and British passengers were held up at quarantine for disinfection.

The Empress of Japan is bound for Victoria and was scheduled to arrive two weeks today. Delay at quarantine off Kobe may hold the ship a day or two.

In recent weeks hundreds of refugees from the war-torn districts of China are returning to Japan aboard the big foreign liners that ply along the Orient coast. Most of them embark at Shanghai and leave at Kobe or Yokohama.

GERMAN AIR RUN STARTS

Big Flying Boat Leaves Germany For Lisbon, En Route to New York

LUEBECK, Germany (AP)—Germany's Nordmeer, mapping a trans-Atlantic passenger-mall route between Germany and the United States, landed at Lisbon late today to complete the first leg of her maiden survey flight, the German Lufthansa announced.

The flying boat reached the Portuguese capital, covering the 1,750 miles from Travemunde, this city's airport, in 9 hours and 32 minutes.

LUEBECK, Germany (AP)—The German flying boat Nordmeer took off for Lisbon this morning on the first leg of her maiden voyage to New York surveying a route for future trans-Atlantic air service linking Germany and North America.

The 16-ton plane roared into the air from this Baltic seaport and headed southwest for the flight to Portugal, considered the most dangerous section of the journey because it is overland, spanning south Germany, part of France, Switzerland, Spain and Portugal.

Flight Captain Joachim Blankenburg said he expected to make the first leg in about 13 hours. From Lisbon the Nordmeer is scheduled to fly to the Azores, where the catapult ship Schwabenland is standing by to refuel and launch the plane for the 2,300-mile final hop to New York.

The flight is the first of eight trips scheduled this year across the Atlantic for the Nordmeer and her sister-ship the Nordwind, making Germany's opening bid for trans-Atlantic passenger and freight service.

Seagulls Force Seaplane Down

SEATTLE—Pilot Tony Schwaemm, whose Savoia Marchetti seaplane with eight others aboard turned up 30 miles from Seattle yesterday after being unreported more than a day on a flight to Ketchikan, planned to take off for the Alaska city again today.

Schwamm left Seattle at 3 p.m. Monday. A search was started yesterday.

Late last night Schwamm telephoned from Port Ludlow, on Puget Sound, to report the plane ran into a flock of seagulls and he stopped overnight to check the equipment.

BODY IS FOUND

LONDON—The body of Elena Jakubauskaite, 26-year-old native of Lithuania who disappeared from the liner Ascania Saturday, was discovered at sea off the south Devon coast yesterday. The liner sailed from Montreal July 30 for London.

Authorities stated they understood the girl was deported from Canada after plans for marriage to a Canadian, arranged through a correspondence courtship, broken down.

The girl was missed shortly after the liner left Plymouth, where a brief stop was made on her way from Canada to London.

She will be put into the basin for annual-summer overhaul and will come out Saturday afternoon. Because of a call at Honolulu, the Russia will sail two days earlier than usual this voyage. She is scheduled to depart for ports across the Pacific on Thursday, August 19.

That Quebec Strike

AFTER ALL THAT HAS BEEN SAID about the docility of the French-Canadian labor organizations, a strike in Quebec is more than ordinary news. It is doubly so when it breaks in the plants of the Dominion Textile Company, the capital profits of which over a few years somewhat amazed public opinion when they were revealed before a tariff commission at Ottawa last year.

The Ottawa Journal has gone to particular pains to get the known facts about the disturbance straight and has set them out in a leading editorial. This is not a C.I.O. strike—the C.I.O. has nothing to do with it, the Journal says. The strikers are members of what is known as the Federation Catholique Nationale du Textile Inc. In other words, they belong to an affiliate of the well-known Quebec Catholic Unions.

The strike affects four local divisions of the Dominion Textile Company, one in Sherbrooke, one in Drummondville, one in Magog, and another in St. Gregoire de Montmorency. It was called on refusal of the company to enter into a collective labor agreement with the Federation Catholique, the agreement to be extended provincially under what is known as the Tremblay measure (passed at the last session of the Quebec Legislature) respecting such pacts. The union had demanded a 48-hour week, plus increases in wages. Mr. Blair Gordon, managing director of Dominion Textiles, says the increases would amount to "twice the net profit we made last year." Some 10,000 men are involved in the strike.

Last week before one of the company's closed plants, there was violence. Which is regrettable. Violence, as Mr. John L. Lewis has had demonstrated for him, will never win a strike. And shouldn't.

On the other hand, the Journal confesses it does not like the mood and tone of statements attributed to Mr. Blair Gordon. Mr. Gordon was informed that the union was waiting for the company to make the first move toward peace negotiations, and The Montreal Gazette reports him as replying:

"They'll wait a long time. I don't care if the plants stay closed until Christmas; we'll never deal with an organization that tolerates intimidation and violence like that."

Mr. Gordon, the Journal suggests, might have talked more sensibly, and more usefully, as there must be somebody in this Catholic Union's organization who renounces violence and who would be glad to negotiate with him sensibly and peacefully.

"Mr. Blair Gordon," the Journal adds, "may not care whether his plants stay closed until Christmas. The public does care. And the public, as a glance over Canada's customs schedules will indicate quite definitely, have a stake in the textile industry. Textile leaders, following an incident of some two years ago, when certain plants were closed arbitrarily, should understand what that interest is—and how, under certain circumstances, it may be made to operate."

"We have heard much these past months from Canadian industrialists regarding their allegiance to the principle of collective bargaining—with our own Canadian unions. The Catholic Federation of Textile Workers is a Canadian union. It seems strange, to say the least, that Dominion Textiles cannot find some way of bargaining with it collectively."

Husbands and Wives

IT WAS TO BE EXPECTED. THE HAMILTON magistrate who made the momentous ruling that husbands have the legal right to chastise their wives had thrown a legal boomerang. Ardent feminists have complicated the issue. Since the old law on which the ruling was based predated the emancipation of women it should be amended to bring it up-to-date, they say.

To conform with these times a clause should be added giving wives the legal right to chastise their husbands! Why, they ask, should all the discussion be confined to a husband's right to chastise a wife? Why not discuss a wife's right to chastise a husband? The occasion for this arises far more frequently, they say. In fact, they go so far as to suggest a husband infringes the domestic rules in nine cases out of ten when breakers loom on the matrimonial seas. It is he who makes appointments in not acceptable to both, who fails to be punctual, who shows up late for meals when a wife has spent an afternoon unselfishly slaving over a stove, who stays out beyond reasonable hours of the night or early morning and is guilty of many other annoyances.

On the other hand, as the one-sided law stands at present it must be futile. If husbands alone have the chastising right, wives will decide to have a far better time than they do now, on the principle one may as well be hanged for a sheep as a lamb. They will show men, who seem to think they are entitled to all the privileges, that this is not a man's world only. Few men, they argue, are worthy of receiving half the privileges they do receive.

Brakes on Culture

THE WORLD HAS BEEN ACCUSTOMED to look up to Germany because of the scholarship and higher research work of its university communities. But if the present situation in Germany continues for any length of time, the probability is that German prestige in this respect will decay. This is the rather sorrowful conclusion expressed by that internationally recognized dean of anthropologists, Dr. Franz Boas of Columbia University, in an article in the current Survey Graphic.

What has happened in Germany is important to the world at large because there is being destroyed a type of culture that had great and beneficial influence upon the course of science and research outside of Germany.

Dr. Boas observes that the aim of German education in the nineteenth century was to lead to intellectual freedom. Now any clash of opinion which is "the very soul of intellectual life" has been crushed with Nazi control of schools, universities, scientific societies, and other institutions.

When the Nazi-trained younger generation displaces the scientists trained under the empire and republic, Dr. Boas expects that "the light that shone forth from school and university, from laboratory and quiet study will be dimmed and infinite labor and time will be needed to re-establish what has been lost."

Practical exploitation of physics and chemistry demanded by exigencies of the economic situation may continue. But Dr. Boas feels that the present tendency is to look too much at immediate practical results and to disregard the importance of the advance of fundamental theory on which the greatness of German industry was founded.

Giving expert testimony on the idea of a "chosen race," Dr. Boas charges that the modern development of genetics and lack of clear thinking have led biologists and anthropologists to a hopeless confusion between characteristics that are racially determined and those formed by social environment. The innumerable books written on mental characteristics of races have "not a whit of scientific basis."

Peaceful Warriors

SUPPORT FOR THE MOVEMENT to preserve world peace includes that from ex-warriors who have now turned pacifist and who from their past experience of war are able to speak with weight and authority on the toll of war and the reasons for peace.

Particularly effective in this connection will be the remarks of Sir Percy Lake, K.C.B., K.C.M.G. of Victoria. Eighty-two years old, Sir Percy has seen army service since 1873. His remarks will receive worldwide notice as coming from the oldest living general in the British Empire.

Another well-known military figure to support the pacifist stand of Sir Percy is Brigadier-General F. P. Crozier. His outspoken war books, particularly those in which he discusses with such frankness the heavy toll of human life in the South African War through the inefficiency of an army system, which caused officers to be chosen for their social connections rather than their military qualifications, have done much to strip war of its false glamour and to focus attention on realities. Later books by Crozier show that even in the early days of the Great War the pillars behind the old army system refused to profit by the errors of the South African War.

Sir Percy Lake is pinning his faith on World War veterans as a great agency for peace. The British Empire Service League, of which he was elected first Canadian president in 1926, has contacted similar organizations in foreign countries. Sir Percy voices an opinion that has become more general of recent years. That is, the truth should be told about war. "If," he says, "we can get the public, who have little knowledge of the actualities of war, to know what war is like, we shall have started and kept going a force that will do much to prevent war."

Revenue From Liquor

THE TOTAL DOMINION REVENUE through the manufacture and sale of liquor during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1937, was $22,901,864. This included excise and customs duties. The revenues in the fiscal year 1936 was $20,946,576. Some years ago this revenue was much larger. In 1928 it was $54,109,008; 1929, $59,595,573; 1930, $56,214,457.

Following were the gross sales by Liquor Control Boards by provinces in 1936 with the net revenue from liquor control in brackets: Nova Scotia, $3,831,691 ($996,087); New Brunswick, $2,695,859 ($782,742); Quebec, $12,698,163 ($4,968,400); Ontario, $18,530,658 ($8,189,816) (in addition sales of beer from breweries and brewers' warehouses, totaled $29,396,420, which amount should be taken into consideration in making comparisons with earlier years); Manitoba, $4,539,694 ($1,293,288); Saskatchewan, $5,735,355 ($1,280,345); Alberta, $3,726,056 ($1,854,728); British Columbia, $11,169,437 ($3,061,829).

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON.

LEADERS

MR. BENNETT, thoroughly tired of his job, and anxious only to spend the latter years of his life in peace, is going to carry on as Leader of the Conservative Party. There is only one reason why he has to do so—the Conservative Party can find no successor.

This is a remarkable and rather serious fact. The Conservatives can find no successor to Mr. Bennett and the Liberals, if the necessity arose, could find no adequate successor to Mr. King. It is literally true that these two stand so far above all their followers in the stuff of leadership that neither party dares to contemplate the hour of their retirement. Apparently, Canadian politics aren't producing leaders these days, but do not be alarmed.

Half of leadership is in the man himself, but just as large a half is the build-up, the bright light that beats upon the throne, the glamour and the legend. When Mr. King became Prime Minister in 1921, his reputation was good but minor. No one was much impressed, most Canadians didn't know him. Within a few years he had established himself, put himself into an unshakable position in his party. Mr. Bennett was not popular, either, and prior to 1930, little known to most Canadians; but by 1935 he was a legend, a phenomenon, almost an institution, whether you liked him or not.

So, when the time comes for either of these gentlemen to retire, the successor will seem very drab. People will shake their heads. "A good fellow," they'll say, "but what a come-down from King and Bennett." But the successor may easily be better than either of them. A leader is like a good old coat or a favorite fishing rod—you always imagine that you can never find another one like it. Yet the new one is usually as good or better.

Meanwhile, it is rather nice that Mr. Bennett is not retiring. He is unique, a rare, exotic growth in our political flora. He has that indefinable thing called color. He is always making news. He is a character such as you won't see again—a character well hated on many sides, but still a character—the kind of man who holds you with his glittering eye, who talks to you all afternoon until you are a limp rag, a mass of damp pulp that has to be carried down the hill to the Chateau, while he, an old man, is as fresh as he was at dawn. I shall not be surprised if he is still leading his party fifty years after we are all dead.

INGRATITUDE

THE MALAHAT HIGHWAY presents an interesting study in road building and in public gratitude. I remember, when the government widened the Malahat in places 12 years ago, we all thought it was being wildly extravagant. The newly-widened parts of the road seemed twice as wide as any road needed to be. Now, compared with the newest road, the old wide pieces seem far too narrow for safety. And in a few weeks we shall be so used to the new road that we shall take it quite as a matter of course. There will be no appreciation for the greater comfort of driving, no realization of the fact that 12 years ago the Malahat was a gravel road which would almost destroy a new car in three or four trips. I dare say in a couple of years we shall want the road all widened out again.

The Malahat is like the world. It gets better all the time, but no one appreciates it. No one ever stops, when pressed for a dollar, to remember that a couple of hundred years ago, he would have been pressed for enough food to keep him alive. No one remembers, when he is being jolted on a bumpy road, that a few centuries back he would have been broken on a wheel or stretched on a rack.

AXE AND WOOD

IT IS A wonderful thing to feel an axe in your hand again, even if it raises blisters, after six months of idle luxury and soft cooking. There is nothing quite so pleasant to the spirit as the feel of a good hickory handle between your palms, no sound more soothing than the sharp whack of a keen blade into a pungent tree trunk, nothing so satisfactory as to clean up the fallen timber to leave the woods clear for the standing trees.

I think that the thing one would miss most in Europe is an axe. Wood is so precious there that the British Columbian who likes to cut his own fuel would feel cheated and starved. Up by our lake we have made huge piles of brush from the fallen trees to be burned up in the wet autumn. In Europe there would be enough fuel there to last several families all winter.

On the roads of France and Germany and Hungary you will find old women carrying bundles of sticks so small, so old and rotten that no housewife here would look at them, even for kindling. These people would go quite mad if they could see our brush piles; if they could hear the cheerful whack of my good double-bitted axe; if they could see the young trees surging up all around.

No man should ask more in these summer days than an axe and some down timber and a lake to jump into after he has got good and hot. When I think of the precious trees of Europe, which are too valuable to cut, when I think of the smoky fires of thin wet sticks in the English inns, I am glad to be here again with an axe in my hands.

LARGEST LIVING CREATURE

The blue whale is the largest of all living creatures and, almost certainly, the largest the world has ever seen. It is reported to reach a length of 100 feet and its weight has been put, by calculation, at between 150 and 200 tons. The greatest length I can find authentically recorded for a blue whale is 95 feet, but specimens over 90 feet are still fairly common. If one considers the length and bulk of a full-grown elephant in relation to these measurements, it will be seen that the volume of a blue whale is equivalent to that of about 20 elephants. The common rogoral rarely, according to current statistics, reaches a length much beyond 70 feet.

Mr. Bennett Gives Three Reasons For Continuing as Leader

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD OTTAWA.

NOW THAT ALL uncertainty over the future of the Tory leadership is ended—at least officially—it will be interesting to inquire just what were the reasons which influenced Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett to choose a public life, of continued strain and burden in preference to the private life of comfort, ease and freedom which might easily have been his.

To obtain the answer to this enigma, it is only necessary to take a peek behind the scenes and "listen-in" briefly to the week-end Conservative caucus which received the federal chieftain's decision.

Mr. Bennett himself is addressing 38 Conservative members of the House of Commons who have obeyed his summons to attend. He is telling them that they constitute the smallest representation which the party has ever returned to any Parliament, and that Conservative fortunes have been brought to this low estate under his leadership. He is discussing recent trends which have gone against Conservatism since the 1935 election, notably the British Columbian and Nova Scotian general elections. He is declaring that there are other fields of a congenial nature to which he can transfer his activities and conceivably further the national interests to almost as great an extent as he can in the post of Leader of His Majesty's Loyal Opposition.

In other words, Mr. Bennett is painting the Conservative Party picture in realistic terms and offering his resignation in no unqualified terms to his parliamentary supporters.

A chorus of dissent interrupts him. Sir George Perley, Conservatism's elder statesman in the House of Commons voices the belief that the caucus is unanimous in its desire to retain the federal chieftain's very distinguished services. Blunt, Irish Dave Spence from Toronto declares there is no doubt on that point. And a notable demonstration of unanimity behind the Bennett leadership ensues.

THEREUPON Mr. Bennett agrees to stay. He mentions three specific reasons as influencing his decision, namely:

(1) His broad desire to continue to serve his country in a field to which he was exceptionally suited by training, interest and experience.

(2) His unwillingness to abandon the party which he led into power in 1930 to a leadership dilemma which might have meant its disintegration.

(3) His belief that political issues are existing and arising in Canada of so important a character that, even if he were to retire from the stage of active politics, he would still be impelled to return and participate in their discussion.

WHAT ARE the issues, present and prospective, in regard to which the Conservative chieftain, even if he laid down his present post, would find it impossible to be silent? Reliable caucus sources mention three, viz.:

(1) The growing threat of Fascism in Canada.

(2) The administration of relief.

(3) The alleged abdication by the Dominion of its constitutional authority in favor of political expediency, with the consequently argued danger of separatism and of the break-up of the bonds of Confederation.

INSULTING "ORANGE PEKOE"

To the Editor:—Perhaps this is a subject that tea dealers would be interested in, but as an ex-plant, I am surprised at the gross insult being given locally to the term "Orange Pekoe."

To those that may not know what Orange Pekoe means, I will explain that it is derived from the Tamil, "Arangi Perku," (foreman) to pickers, and means carefully pick. As Tamil is only spoken by the coolies of the Nilgiri Hills and Annamally Hills of South India and on the hills of Ceylon, the term Orange Pekoe is commercially used only for carefully picked tea in these localities immediately after the monsoons.

Today, I saw in a local store, Japanese Formosa bulk tea being sold as pure Orange Pekoe and this is as false as to term and sell soft wheat as hard wheat.

I wish to thank you for the favor of publishing this information, so that the public may not be deceived when they taste this kind of Japanese tea being sold locally as pure Orange Pekoe.

CENTRAL PARK FOR BEER GARDEN?

To the Editor:—One of your correspondents says the showboat should be removed to the Gorge or some more suitable place. Another claims that the "lighthouse" on Pandora Avenue is a monstrosity, but it might be converted into a much needed comfort station if its base was enlarged for that purpose.

Both are good ideas, no doubt, but I don't think they go far enough.

Why not turn Central Park into a kind of a municipal beer garden, and let the showboat people carry on there? Think if all the money the city could make out of it!

As for the lighthouse, why not arrest as many of those mad car drivers as possible, and put them to work excavating underneath the lighthouse for a bigger and better comfort station?

SELECTING LAWN BOWLERS

To the Editor:—The lawn bowlers of Victoria have a great opportunity to give their city a special date-line of Empire-wide publicity.

Our South African visitors are making a record in Canada which bids fair to surpass that of any touring aggregation of bowlers anywhere at any time. They have so far played 39 games, winning 32 and losing seven.

Three games are booked for Victoria and if the various clubs will concentrate on selecting players purely for their playing ability, there is no reason why the Capital City of British Columbia should not go on the map as the only undefeated city in Canada—we have enough quality players if they are free to play.

To do this many popular local officials and members must sacrifice their personal expectation of selection and I suggest we all should be willing to do so in the interests of publicity for the people of our city and province. Selectors, go ahead without fear or favor.

PURSED LIPS, NO DOUBT

Crooks, remarks a traveler, are extremely polite in New York. He was passing the Grand Central Terminal when he was stopped by a burly looking gent (so he declares) who asked, "May I carry your wallet, sir?"

And they tell about the talkie star who had gloated about her culinary prowess to innumerable interviewers. So she gave a tea to strut her cooking ability before the Hollywoodians. "How do you like my cake?" she asked George Jessel. "Delicious," he murmured, "did you buy it yourself?"

REVIEWS WORK OF FOUR YEARS

Miss E. Grubb Says Farewell to Friendly Help Welfare Association

Gathering at an afternoon tea at the home of Miss Sara Spencer, members of the Friendly Help Welfare Association and friends yesterday honored Miss Elizabeth Grubb, resigning general secretary, who will leave shortly to study psychiatry in London.

Miss Grubb reviewed briefly what had been accomplished during the four years she had served the association, telling of its growth from the day in 1933 when the Social Service League and the Friendly Help Association had joined forces here until the present time.

The association was originally looked upon with suspicion and misconception, Miss Grubb said. From voluntary subscriptions in 1933, the association undertook the task of supplying milk for which the bill in the first month was more than $600. Families showed considerable resentment when it was pointed out that the city unemployment relief was supposed to cover all basic food needs, including milk, but the bill was cut to $125 a month.

SUPPLIED CLOTHES

In 1934 the association attempted to supply clothes for those in need. Purchase, cleaning, washing, and repairing of clothes cost $20,000 in the first 12 months, entirely disrupting the budget, and resulting in complete financial failure in the summer of 1935.

Feeling that much of the relief it was giving was really the responsibility of the city and province, the association asked help, and was left with family case work as its main objective. The work was reduced to a minimum and then built up on a sound basis. Some of the best work of the association was done in 1937.

Some clients were now also contributors, Miss Grubb said. In the latter part of 1933, more than 50 per cent of families helped by the association received relief from the association's funds. This year, less than 15 per cent received financial help.

FAMILY CASE WORK

"Today family case work seems to have become fairly securely entrenched," Miss Grubb said. "The policy of employing trained social workers has been established, our financial campaign has been a success and there is a greatly increased understanding of our work in the community."

With the improvement in the economic situation, help was being asked by an increasing number of small wage earners in times of illness or temporary unemployment. Miss Grubb suggested that social insurance would probably relieve this situation. It was questionable, on the other hand, whether low wages could be supplemented to the point where families were really able to have all their needs met. Looking back over the last four years, a definite change had taken place in the attitude toward professional social work, Miss Grubb declared. The community was now able to take the first steps towards joint planning and financing of welfare services. The necessity for the association to do good work would be felt more and more with the establishment of the Community Chest.

Miss Grubb emphasized that because times were better, it should not be thought that there was no need for the services of the Friendly Help Welfare Association.

Miss Grubb expressed her confidence in her successor, Miss A. L. McLaughlin, and asked that the association give her its full support.

PRESENTATION

Rev. F. Comley, chairman, presented Miss Grubb with a traveling bag and clock from the members of the board, relating their regret at her departure and their appreciation of her four years' excellent work here, which, he said, had become an integral part of the community's plan for social welfare. On behalf of the board, he welcomed Miss McLaughlin as the new general secretary.

F. E. Winslow, chairman of the finance committee, submitted a report detailing expenses which would total $8,000 for the association and $3,000 for Sunshine Camp in 1938. The report will be given to the Community Chest which is now being organized.

Saanich Fire Chief Honored

On the occasion of his leaving the employ of the Saanich municipality, where he has been engaged for 17 years, Fire Chief H. T. Lock was honored with a presentation at the municipal hall.

Mr. Lock will leave for Prince Rupert shortly to undertake the duties of fire-chief of that city.

Reeve Crouch on behalf of the council and staff made the presentation and spoke of the excellent service rendered by Mr. Lock and conveyed the best wishes of the staff for his happiness and success in his new position.

Mr. Lock thanked the reeve and staff for their kind remembrance and good wishes for his success.

Arion Club To Sing in Park

To maintain an annual custom extending back for a period of 45 years, the Arion male voice choir will give an open air concert, weather permitting, from the band stand in Beacon Hill Park tomorrow evening at 8. An excellent programme has been prepared.

These concerts are always given in aid of some local charity or organization, and the collection tomorrow will be taken up in aid of the Citizens' Recreation Rooms.

Fred Wright, one of the basses of the club, will be soloist; Phil H. Hughes will conduct and Mrs. C. C. Warn will be at the piano. The club will sing the following numbers: "Proudly As the Eagle," "A Surrey Song," "Lassie O'mine," "At Sea" (chorus of sailors), "Brier Rose," "Viking Song," "The Mulligan Musketiers," "Secret Love," "The Big Brown Bear," "A Winter's Song" and "Soldiers' Chorus" (Fayst).

JAPANESE IN FINE CONCERT

Young Contralto Thrills Large Audience; Dances Are Delightful

Delightful entertainment was provided on the Showboat in the inner harbor last night when the Japanese Community of Victoria, with the help of friends in Vancouver, made its offering to the city's 75th birthday celebrations.

Several thousand persons attended and watched the fairy-like scene, as tiny Japanese girls, in colorful kimonos, performed the folk dances of Japan.

FINE CONTRALTO

The appearance of Miss Aiko Saita was the feature of the evening. She has a splendid contralto voice and her singing shows her natural gifts and her years of hard work in study in Europe and Japan. She is more at home in grand opera, and her Habanera from Carmen was indeed delightfully dramatic. "Dainty Boy" and "Where the Roses Bloom" were two of her songs in English. She sang, as well, two Japanese songs.

Following her appearance, Miss Saita was presented with several bouquets of flowers, Miss Shizue Naka, the accompanist, also shared in the honors.

S. Nakamura of Vancouver was master of ceremonies, and also sang two groups of songs.

Roy Kumano drew rounds of applause for his numbers on a mouthorgan, and winsome little Japanese girls of Victoria were delightful in a number of dances.

The programme was brought to a close with a tap dance by two young Japanese ladies, attired in the uniform of sailors of the Japanese navy and a naval march by a large group of girls, all dressed as sailors and carrying the flags of Canada and Japan.

Privy Council Market Appeal

Higher Court Ruling May Be Sought on B.C. Act

Leave to appeal to the Privy Council was granted by the Court of Appeal yesterday to respondents who failed in their defence of injunctions granted against the Lower Island Dairy Products and the B.C. Coast Vegetable Marketing Boards. During the afternoon the court allowed the appeal of the Vegetable Marketing Board, having sustained that submitted on behalf of the milk board in the morning.

Gilbert Hogg, representing the respondent Lowe Chong, failed to establish his point that the injunction granted against the vegetable board had been allowed on the double grounds of unconstitutionality of the B.C. Natural Products Marketing Act and on the action of vegetable board members in exceeding powers conferred upon them by the act. The court had previously ruled the act, in whole, Mr. Hogg, it held, had failed to prove specific judgment had been sought from the trial judge. Mr. Justice A. M. Manson, on the grounds the board had exceeded its authority.

Preliminary objection, raised by Mr. Hogg on the technical details of the appeal, was overruled by the court prior to the hearing of the appeal.

CASE BRIEF

R. L. Maitland, K.C., in a brief presentation of the case for the appellant, based his argument on the error of the trial judge in holding the Marketing Act ultra vires.

Senator J. W. deB. Faris, K.C., appearing for the Department of the Attorney-General of B.C., referred the court to his morning argument based on the unusual action of the trial judge in declaring the opinion given by the Court of Appeal to the government not binding upon his court. While the question of the validity of the act had been decided, very serious questions arose over the action of the appellant even under the act, Mr. Hogg declared. He quoted from the appeal book claiming the point had been raised in the court below over the violation of powers by the Vegetable Marketing Board.

Chief Justice Martin asked Mr. Hogg if he had asked for judgment on that specific issue in relation to definite violations.

The trial judge had found the entire act ultra vires and had considered it unnecessary to give judgment on the other grounds, despite the fact he had been asked to go further, Mr. Hogg stated.

SATISFIED WITH RULING

Mr. Maitland contended respondent's counsel had been satisfied with the general ruling which declared the act invalid.

"Incidents without statutory sanction did occur and we asked for judgment on them," Mr. Hogg replied, adding the trial judge had felt such judgment unnecessary.

The action before the court was a minor matter pertaining to duly delegated powers and was apart from the major issue of the constitutionality of the act on which the court had already ruled, Chief Justice Martin remarked.

After Mr. Hogg had made further efforts to prove judgment had been sought for violation of powers, the court declared itself in the position of being unable to allow the point.

"The proper action would have been for the trial judge to follow the opinion of this court. We ourselves would not be justified in departing from it," Chief Justice Martin said as he announced the appeal was allowed.

In order to expedite the test of the Marketing Act before the Privy Council, the court allowed applications of Mr. Hogg and D. N. Hossie, K.C., respondents' counsel in the milk case, for leave to appeal. Consent of the other side was granted in each case for the conditional order.

Big Lumber Mill At Tacoma Closed

Idle Men Total 1,300 As Labor Groups Test Strength

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—One huge lumber mill was closed today and dozens of others in danger of closing as the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners made good its threat of war to the death against the Committee for Industrial Organization in the lumber industry.

Abe Muir, vice-president of the brotherhood, rushed plans to close the doors to all C.I.O. lumber, hoping thus to force workers who have moved toward the C.I.O. back into the unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

As evidence of his intent, Muir Tuesday approved the posting of 300 Tacoma Building Trades Council pickets at entrances to the St. Paul and Tacoma Lumber Company mill here. In all, some 1,300 men in the mill and the company camps were thrown out of work.

PROTEST FROM INDIANS IN U.S.

Chiefs Talk of Offering Canada South Dakota's Black Hills

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP)—Four age-wrinkled Indian chiefs, all of whom saw the "Custer massacre" of 1876, complained today of ill-treatment at the hands of the government and talked of offering South Dakota's scenic Black Hills to Canada.

The four, meeting to plan a tribal council at the Standing Rock Reservation, Fort Yates, N.D., late this month, where it was proposed formal presentation of grievances be put before federal officials, included two nephews of Sitting Bull, whose Sioux and Cheyenne bands wiped out Gen. George A. Custer and his troops in the battle at Little Big Horn.

Oscar One Bull, one of the Indian's nephews, voiced the complaint of the quartette.

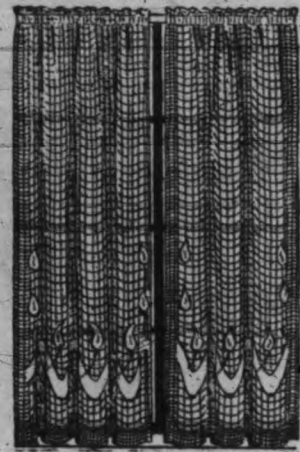

"The white man," he said, "has never carried out his treaties with us. Many old Indians starved to death last winter for lack of rations. If the President doesn't do something for us, we are going to Canada to talk to them."

The Canadian youth team has been in England for four weeks, and came from many parts of Canada. They were described by Saskatchewan's Premier Patten-

ARE YOU ONLY A THREE-QUARTER WIFE?

THERE are certain things a woman has to put up with and be a good sport.
 Men, because they are men, can never understand a three-quarter wife—a wife who is all love and kindness three weeks in a month and a hell out the rest of the time.
 No matter how your back aches—no matter how loudly your nerves scream—don't take it out on your husband.
 For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."
 Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and go "Smiling Through."

Colds Lay Their High Spirits Low

CALLANDER, Ont. (CP)—The Dionne quintuplets, famous for their colic high spirits, were described today by their physician, Dr. Allan Roy Dafeo, as "irritable and nervous."
 They are indisposed with slight colds—not serious, but sufficiently distressing to keep their pranks and laughter at a minimum.
 Dr. Dafeo announced the quintuplets needed further rest before they could resume public appearance. Until Friday, he said, they will be in seclusion.

WOODROW-MCKENZIE

At the Belmont Avenue United Church on Saturday evening Rev. Bryce Wallace united in marriage Marion Joy, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McKenzie and Mr. Richard Roeson Woodrow, elder son of Mrs. Woodrow and the late Mr. H. Woodrow of Courtenay.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a becoming dress of navy blue silk net, featuring a short jacket outlined with pleated white ruching. She wore a small navy turban with white roll brim and veil and navy accessories. Pinned to her shoulder was a corsage bouquet of red rosebuds.

Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Doris McKenzie, who was attired in a white Miami cloth tulle with square-shouldered cape bordered in navy, her large-brimmed hat and accessories also of navy blue. A corsage bouquet of red and white carnations completed her ensemble. Mr. Allan Woodrow was his brother's groomsman.

Following a honeymoon spent motoring in the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow will take up residence in Courtenay. Many friends of the bride and groom motored from Courtenay and Cumberland to attend the wedding.

SHELDON-HENDERSON

A marriage was solemnized quietly at the home of the Rev. Daniel Walker, 1133 Rockland Avenue, on Tuesday evening, when Edrie Rust-Henderson was united in marriage to Mr. Wayne Upson Sheldon. The bride was attended by Miss Mary E. Whitford and the bridegroom was supported by Mr. George Hendry Clay. The young couple will make their home in Seattle.

Sister of Ex-Prince Saved From Canal

VENICE (AP)—There was a ducking in a Venice canal Tuesday—but it was not the former Barbara Hutton, dime store heiress and now Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow, as first reported by rescuers.
 The damped victim was Mrs. Jose Maria Sert, sister of ex-Prince David Mdivani.
 Confusion was created, it was explained here, when Mrs. Sert was referred to as Princess Mdivani—leading to the conclusion that she was Countess Reventlow, once married to the late ex-Prince Alexis Mdivani.
 Firemen rescued Mrs. Sert, uninjured, after her boat had capsized off the Piazza di San Marco, in the centre of traffic in this city of canals.

ROYAL OAK

In honor of her daughter, Mrs. F. C. Dana of Ames, Iowa, who is visiting here with her husband, Prof. F. G. Dana and daughter, Shirley Jean, Mrs. W. H. Bassett entertained a number of friends at tea at her home on the West Saanich Road. Pouring tea from the prettily-appointed tea table centred with a crystal and silver bowl of white daisies and pink roses were Mrs. T. Hutchinson and Mrs. L. H. MacQueen.
 Mr. and Mrs. J. Watt, East Saanich Road, left Saturday on a week's vacation to Oakland, Calif. Miss Edna Lewis, Ashfield, Kentucky, accompanied by Mrs. C. Dunn, Mrs. B. Roberts, Miss G. Dunn and Miss D. Roberts of Nanaimo, were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Phillips, West Saanich Road.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDERD

CHILD'S EVENTUAL INDEPENDENCE MEANS SEPARATION

The mother of a large family is apt to have a more wholesome relationship to each individual child. She mothers and loves them all but her whole interest is not bound up in any one of them. This gives the child the opportunity to be released from the bonds of her affectionate care when the time for such release arrives.

Not so the only child. The parent clings to him tenaciously, fearful of breaking the bond that unites them—fighting separation and every new interest which would make the child independent of her.

This relationship between an only child and its mother can become a really unhealthy and undesirable one, when the mother continues to smother him in her unselfish devotion and he grows increasingly dependent upon her and overfond of her indulgences.

Mrs. F. H. L. indicates that she is reluctant to make the first break when she writes: "My son will be five years old in October, but he could go to school this fall, except that I know it would be hard for him to be separated from me. I have taken exclusive care of him as his father travels and we are much alone. He is very devoted and dependent upon me. I wonder if I could wait to let him to school next term?"
 His schooling might not suffer but his development would. No doubt he needs more than most children the tonic influence of selfish and indifferent children and the just and fair but not affectionate attention of the teacher. He must learn to adjust himself to a cold and indifferent world and one which isn't at all like the sweet and privileged one which you have been busy building for him.

You must be aware that you cater to your own selfish desire to keep him tied to your apron string—and the child has a right to learn to be happy without you. Take the first step now. The others will come easier.

You may have the leaflet on "Teaching Independence" for the usual self-addressed and three-cent stamped envelope sent with your request for the leaflet by name to Myrtle Meyer Elderd of the Your Baby and Mine department of this newspaper.

NEW METHOD LIMITED

CONDUCTOR IN MUSIC TILT

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Stocky, black-haired Jose Iturbi, no stranger to controversy, is in the middle of another opera-versus-just-plain-music debate.

Said Iturbi, Spanish-born conductor who stopped a national radio broadcast by the Philadelphia orchestra Monday night because he objected to some popular songs.

"There is good American music—but all this I-love-you stuff is just trash."

"It is far below the dignity of the orchestra to play such cheap, rotten music. See, I can not permit such stuff on a broadcast."

Iturbi left radio singer Muey Munroe standing in the wings at Robin Hood Dell here Monday night and stalked to the stage when he discovered the popular songs were in the programme.

He is directing the orchestra for the summer.

Miss Munroe and Jan Pierce were to have sung the songs—including works by Victor Herbert, George Gershwin, Q. Speaks, Jerome Kern, Frank Laforge and Daniel Wolfe.

The programme of American music commemorated the 150th anniversary of the signing of the constitution of the United States.

Pierce had sung two songs when Iturbi interrupted. The radio announcer then ended the broadcast. Iturbi continued his own programme.

APOLOGY SUGGESTED
 NEW YORK (AP)—Asserting "it's just too bad that Mr. Iturbi does not like our music," an official of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, suggested the conductor might be forbidden the use of American compositions unless he apologizes for the remarks he made about them in Philadelphia Monday night.

E. C. Mills, chairman of A.S.C.A.P. administrative committee, said it was regrettable "such a distinguished artist should have so narrow a mind and so intemperate a tongue," and added:

"American composers would be well within their reasonable rights in henceforth forbidding him under any circumstances or at any time to render any of their copyright compositions, and it may be that they will do this unless he retracts his remarks and apologizes for them."

Ex-Customs Man Found Drowned
 BELLINGHAM, Wash. (AP)—The body of Louie Laronde, about 55, until recently a member of the Canadian Customs force at the Pacific Highway station near Blaine, was found Tuesday in Semahmoo Bay about a half mile off Point Roberts by Robert Largent, a fisherman.

Laronde, who lived near White Rock, B.C., had been missing since last Friday, when he disappeared from Crescent Beach. The body was garbed in a bathing suit. It was taken to New Westminster, B.C.

Whatcom County officers who investigated, discounted a theory of foul play.

The widow and two children survive him.

Daughter Born To Mrs. R. Massey
 HORSHAM, Sussex, Eng. (CP)—A daughter was born today to Mrs. Raymond Massey, wife of the Canadian actor-producer, at Rosing farm, their home near here.

Both the child and her mother—known on the stage as Adrienne Allen—were reported as doing well. It was the Massey's second child, the other being a boy. The Toronto actor also had a son by a previous marriage.

Massey himself is in Los Angeles where he has been undergoing hospital treatment. He said last night he hoped to leave for England next week.

Interments Delayed By Cemetery Strike
 KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Fifty bodies have been placed in receiving vaults here since grave diggers struck last Thursday. Undertakers said there was vault space enough to last four weeks more if necessary.

CHICAGO MAN SHOT BY WIFE

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Ruth Werlein, 35, was held on an open charge today, pending an inquest on the death of her husband, George, 45, whom, Assistant State Attorney Julius Sherwin said, she shot three times after he had questioned the paternity of their nine-month-old son, Dak.

Julius J. Gebhardt, the woman's brother, was a member of the police squad which placed the woman under arrest. He found Werlein dead when he entered the family's north side home Tuesday night in response to a police radio call.

Shirley Hall, Mrs. Werlein's nine-year-old daughter by a previous marriage, witnessed the shooting. She told police her mother shot after her stepfather had knocked Mrs. Werlein down and taunted her about the infant.

Bishop Blunt To Visit Canada
 LEEDS, Eng. (CP)—Rt. Hon. A. W. F. Blunt, Bishop of Bradford, and Mrs. Blunt will sail August 10 for a visit to Canada and the United States.

Bishop Blunt will be away until October 17, and has several preaching and speaking engagements. He will also preside at conferences of clergy at a number of points.

It was a sermon of Bishop Blunt's that, although indirectly, first brought the Duke of Windsor-Mrs. Simpson romance to public attention in Great Britain. Following his cue the press broke its self-imposed bonds of censorship.

His itinerary includes Vancouver.

WORKERS ESTATE $42,170
 SAN FRANCISCO—Thomas Lahean pushed a broom as a streetsweeper for many years in the Polk Street district and many persons believed he never even had enough to eat. Lahean died last January at the age of 66 years. A will contest Tuesday disclosed he had saved $42,170.

HOROSCOPE
 "The stars incline me, but do not compel."
 Conflicting planetary influences are discerned in the horoscope for today. According to astrology the aspects favor those who have attained success more than those who are struggling to succeed.

Under this rule of the stars, financial matters may be the source of anxiety. It is not a favorable date for stock loans or for adjusting banking affairs.

As the month advances, there should be careful plans for the autumn, and conservative ideas should dominate, although there will be many temptations to speculate.

While this configuration prevails there may be an inclination to circulate bad news and to dwell upon petty details that threaten international relations. Astrologers remind men and women that each day's opportunities and avoiding the sort of foresight which is discouraging.

Increased trade in rubber, cotton and tea will be profitable for Burma, Siam and Borneo. But the stars predict that chemists will provide substitutes for many of these exports.

Women today will be lucky in shopping for the autumn wardrobe. Again attention is called to the fact that the fashions mirror history.

Persons whose birth-date is 11 have the supply of a year of prosperity that is attended by display in dress and hospitality. Success may be extraordinary for certain women.

Children born on this day may be endowed with talents which they will employ wisely. Subjects of this sign usually make much of their opportunities.

James W. Wadsworth, congressman, was born on this day, 1837. Others who have returned to the country include Keith M. Thomas, post 1854, and George W. Bellows, painter, 1862.

Social Credit Experts Scored

Hugill, Retiring Alberta Attorney-General, Criticizes Envoys From London

TORONTO (CP)—British Social Credit experts now in Edmonton today were termed "high-pressure salesmen who are nobody at home but are running things in Alberta," by Hon. J. W. Hugill, the province's retiring Attorney-General.

Mr. Hugill's resignation, asked by Premier Aberhart, will take effect September 15. "My quarrel isn't with Premier Aberhart; it is with the English experts, with whom I have nothing in common," he said. "Even Douglas, the Social Credit founder, does not give them his backing. They make a great show of serving Alberta for nothing, but I notice one of them drew a $2,000 cheque for expenses the other day."

L. D. Byrne and G. F. Powell, British Social Credit experts, have been in Alberta several weeks. They were accepted as advisers after a request from the government to Major C. H. Douglas to make the trip or suggest representatives.

Mr. Hugill gave the opinion "Social Credit cannot succeed in one province alone." He said that "Douglas made it clear you have to have control of currency if Social Credit is to work; Alberta, of course, has not," and he added that "high interest rates can't go on."

He cited Australia as a country where interest had been lowered and the people's burden reduced. He expressed opposition to blaming banks and mortgage companies for "all our troubles," but said, "They'll have to whittle the rates."

NO CONFISCATION
 Mr. Hugill, here to attend the annual convention of the Canadian Bar Association, said Tuesday he was "unalterably opposed to anything savouring of confiscation or repudiation," and stated that when Premier Aberhart "in this latest piece of legislation (to license and control bankers) insisted on a course which would break down the constitution of the country" he had to "pull out."

Mr. Hugill said he felt "it was futile to enter on a course of action which would arouse the opposition of the rest of Canada."

Paez Is Declared Ecuador President
 QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Federicko Paez, military dictator of Ecuador since September, 1935, was elected provisional constitutional President by the national assembly on Tuesday.

The vote was unanimous, except for one legislator who failed to cast a ballot.

Earlier in the day, Paez had submitted his resignation as head of the government as a special session of the assembly.

A constitutional convention will submit a constitution to the people later and a general election will then be held to elect a regular president.

ANDREW and IMOGENE

By ROE FULKERSON

"Andrew, I have an idea!" exclaimed Imogene.
 "Say, that's great!" declared Andrew. "Let's see what day of the month this is."

"Why?"
 "I thought we might want to remember the day you had the idea."

"Are you trying to be funny?"
 "If I am, I'm making a success of it."

"I have just as many ideas as you do."
 "And funnier ones, too," he agreed.

"Are you trying to annoy me?"
 "My goodness, no. I am just trying to be nice and sociable until you take me into your confidence about this big idea."

"I think we should set aside one day a week," she began, and—
 "Let's set aside Monday," said Andrew. "I never have liked Mondays. I always eat too much on Sunday, and after being away from the office since Saturday noon, I hate to go back to work. If it's all the same to you, we will set aside Monday."

"Do you want me to go on?"
 "By all means."

"Then stop talking nonsense!"
 "I am shut up as tight as a bank on a legal holiday."

"What I had to suggest was that we set aside a night—
 "You are changing it!"
 "I want to set aside a night on which we can have a sort of stock taking," she continued, ignoring the interruption. "I would be a weekly check up on each other. I could tell you the little things you have done which irritated me, and you could tell me all the little things I have done which irritated you."

"We would promise before we started not to get angry with each other. We would do it all very gaily and happily, and then you would stop doing the things which annoy me, and I would stop doing the things which annoy you, and we would be much happier."

"You criticize me," said Andrew. "Let me refrain from criticizing you."

"That wouldn't be fair!"
 "But you see, darling, you are so perfect that I wouldn't be able to go into anything like a contest or a comparison with you."

"Do you mean that you couldn't think of anything to criticize me for?"
 "Not a single thing!"
 "That's because you have given it no thought. Why, I can think of a hundred things to criticize you for!"
 "That's just what I was saying," said Andrew. "We have all-

Painter's Bruins Remain In Softball Play-off

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

MORT BALLAGH of Los Angeles and Verne Hughes of Long Beach, the smart University of Southern California net doubles team who were seen in action at the courts of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club during the provincial championships last week have no mean ambition in regard to their tennis future.

The two sophomores have played doubles together since they first attended college and are really going to town in Pacific Coast college tennis circles. The dark-haired Ballagh and the blond Hughes are aiming to capture the national college doubles championships within the next two seasons. They will make their first bid next year when the tournament will be held somewhere in the east.

Ballagh has a sizzling service and an almost sure-fire smash and his uncanny ability at the net combines well with his blond partner's steady base-line game. "Everybody is good," said Ballagh when questioned on the general brand of tennis in the south. "You see, we play all year round and so have a big advantage as far as practice goes."

Ballagh is also no mean opponent in any man's singles match, as can be judged by the fine exhibition he displayed in extending Dick "Buster Keaton" Bennett to the limit in the final Saturday afternoon. He played a gruelling five-set match and, with only a short rest, went in there with Hughes to whip Ray Casey and Jack Kramer in the men's doubles final.

What struck the writer forcibly during the week of the tournament were the characteristic mannerisms of the players. Of those noticed perhaps Dr. Barstow's was the most outstanding. Her "I am unhappy" uttered at intervals during her matches invariably meant the loss of a point or game, while Ray Casey's "Yes" was usually a tribute to his opponent for a clever shot that got past him.

As far as facial expression was concerned "dead pan" honors most certainly went to Bennett who, when he missed a return or muffed a service, banged the ball against the blackboard or threw his racket in the air. A faint twinkle in his eye meant the match was in the bag.

Those in charge of the newly-organized Victoria Baseball Club are still talking to themselves over having to give the Port Townsend players a nice fat guarantee after that miserable exhibition at the Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon. The Victoria boys apparently got stuck like the chap who purchased the provincial "pig in a poke."

Advance reports on the visitors were pretty rosy so the locals looked forward to playing against a snappy squad. Instead, they went up against a nine which could not be classed as a club of good beginners. It was a pitiful exhibition and those fans who did attend were mighty disappointed. It is just such games as Saturday's that have done much to ruin the game in this city. When the spectators pay out their money, can you blame them?

PIGEON RACING

The Victoria Pigeon Club held its second young bird race of the season over the week-end from Tacoma, an air line distance of 100 miles. Fifty birds competed.

Glendenning In Fine Exhibition To Score Shutout

Hurls Bruins to 8 to 0 Victory in Third Game of Island Final

Play Tomorrow

That big, smiling pitcher George Glendenning, along with a pair of home-run sluggers, Lionel Bradley and Vic Dale, were the heroes in Painter's Bruins' camp today, for it was largely through their performances that the fuelmen were able to shutout the New Method Laundry, 8 to 0, in the third game of the lower island senior softball series last night at the Athletic Park before 250 followers.

Last night's performance of the Bruins was by far their best of the series in spite of the slippery condition of the pitch and the fans left the enclosure quite satisfied in their own minds that the fuelmen can really play a sweet brand of ball when the pressure is on. The present standing of the teams in the best-of-five series is New Method Laundry, 2 wins; Painter's Bruins, 1 win. The next game will be played tomorrow night at the same park.

Displaying excellent form, Glendenning heaved one of his best games of the current season. He stayed on the mound for the seven innings—the game being called in that session—and allowed but six knocks. The Bruins' moundman got fine support from his team-mates.

Sid Carr was replaced on the hitlock for New Method Laundry by Kelly Comerford in the fifth inning directly following the opposing sides' four-run barrage in this frame. Comerford did better, allowing two safeties during his operations, which the Bruins made good for a likewise number of runs. Carr was got to for seven hits.

The game was in its third session before Manager Bert Simpson's Bruins made their first impression on the scoreboard. "Scotty" Robinson, centre field, fumbled McKean's smash and Glendenning and Jimmy Baker raced over the home plate to register a pair of markers.

TWO CIRCUIT HITS

After a scoreless fourth, Painter's Bruins brought their heavy guns into action in the following session. There was but one more to go to retire the Bruins in this inning when Vic Dale came to bat and laced out a circuit drive to centre field and drove in Berry ahead of him. Robinson failed to nail the hit due to the uncertain footing afforded on the slippery grass. Barnswell made first base and Lionel Bradley, first sacker for Bruins, drove him home along with himself with a powerful circuit hit that soared high over the left fielder's head. Following this, Carr was sent to the showers and Comerford was rushed to the rescue, but to no avail, the damage had been done.

The eventual winners finished their scoring in the sixth when Baker came home on McKean's single, and Vic Dale scored McKean.

New Method tried hard to crash the scoring column but they were stopped repeatedly by a smooth-working squad of fuelmen. Score by innings:
New Method — 0000000—0
Painter's Bruins — 002042x—8

The Calvert Knockout Cup game that was to have been held tonight at Bullen Park between Colwood Wood Company and Victoria Longshoremen has been postponed until Friday night. It will be played at the same park.

On the following Sunday, August 22, members of the Port Angeles club will pay a return visit to Victoria.

VANCOUVER IN BALL VICTORY

Maple Leafs Defeat Wenatchee 6 to 2 in Western International Loop

TACOMA — Tacoma and Yakima held their one-two positions at the top of the Western International Baseball League standings today with victories over Lewiston and Spokane, respectively, last night.

Larry Guay, Tacoma pitcher, held the cellar-roosting Lewiston Indians hitless and runless for five innings, while the Tigers were piling up four runs. The final score was 5 to 3. Bryan, second baseman, lifted the first pitched ball of the game over the fence.

The up and down Spokane Hawks were sloppy in the field and dropped the first game in seven starts on the home diamond, 4 to 1 to Yakima. Red Miller kept the Hawks' eight nits scattered.

Home runs by Andy Ferraris and Charlie Correll marked Vancouver's 6 to 2 victory over Wenatchee at Wenatchee.

Hostak Marks Up Another Knockout

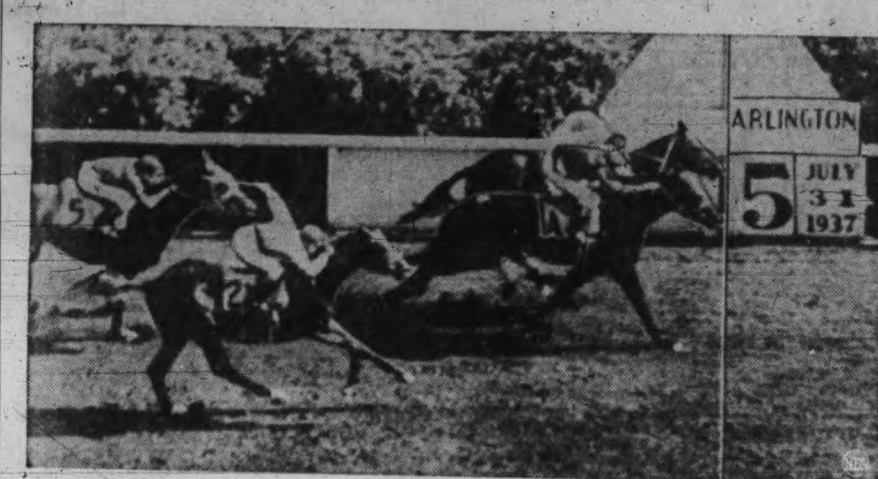

Rising Seattle Middleweight Puts Away Allen Matthews in Ninth

SEATTLE — Fast-climbing young Al Hostak of Seattle, with Allen Matthews of St. Louis added to his list of victims, was hot on the trail of a title fight with middleweight champion Freddie Steele today, but at least one other contender was ahead of him.

A few hours before the 21-year-old Hostak scored a technical knockout over the St. Louis negro in the ninth stanza of a 10-round match here last night, Promoter Nate Druxman announced Steele would meet Ken Overlin of Washington, D.C., and Norfolk, Va., in a 15-round title bout here August 31.

The Steele-Overlin fight was originally scheduled several months ago, but was canceled when Overlin developed jaundice. DOWN FIVE TIMES
Hostak put out Matthews, rated as his toughest opponent so far, with a smashing right to the jaw

Collins' Injury Weakens Chicago

National League Baseball Leaders Will Sorely Miss First Sacker

An accident may have accomplished what the combined efforts of seven major league clubs could not bring about—endanger the Chicago Cubs' hold on first place in the National League.

Today, it is true enough. The Bruins are still six games up on the New York Giants. But as they resume their series with the Pittsburgh Pirates they do so in the knowledge that for the next month—to within a few weeks of the season's end—they will have to struggle along without the services of Jim (The Ripper) Collins, fancy fielding, run-producing first baseman, who was such a valuable factor in their climb to the top and their ensuing stay there.

Like the New York Yankees, the Cubs have managed to bounce back from previous injuries and illnesses. Tex Carleton, Larry French, Billy Herman, Gabby Hartnett, even Manager Charley Grimm—they are just a few of the north siders who have been incapacitated at one time or another this season.

But it will take a lot of bouncing to make up for the loss of Collins.

He was fifth in the league in driving in runs, he has clouted 15 homers, and his defensive work has been just what Dr. Grimm ordered when he got Collins from the St. Louis Cardinals last winter in a deal that also involved Lonnie Warneke and Roy Parmelee.

With the last third of the campaign in sight—the Cub's 6 to 5

BOXERS WILL WORK TONIGHT

Frenchy Beaudin and Henry Woods to Train at Empire Theatre

Frenchy Beaudin, scrappy Montreal welterweight, and Henry Woods, colored Yakima leather-thrower, who will meet in the 10-round mix to headline Friday night's boxing show at the Athletic Park, being staged by the city's 75th anniversary committee, arrived in Victoria this afternoon from Vancouver, and will work out this evening at the Empire Theatre between 7 and 8. The public is invited to attend.

"Dud" Miller, Alberni glove tosser, will take on Gordon Currie Smith, Vancouver, and former holder of the B.C. bantamweight title, in the semi-main event of six rounds. Both are good boys and action should not be lacking.

The special event on the 31-round programme will see Nels Stephens, soldier fighter, exchanging blows with "Kid" Kramer, a former Sacramento lad now a resident of Victoria. George Lowe, known by wrestling fans as the "Chinese Flash," will make his debut in the boxing game when he trades punches with Eric Whitehead in one of the preliminary matches. Two other bouts will round out the card with the Buxton brothers, Jimmy and Dick, fighting in the opener at 8.30.

Los Angeles—Hank Ankenson, 215, Akron, Ohio, stopped George Godfrey, 265, Leipsville, Pa. (8).
New York—Johnny Horstman, 147, New York, outpointed Pete Koloff, 138½, New York (8).

Castaways of the Wager

The southern end of Chile has such a cold and dreary climate that not many people live there. Some Indians make it their home, but not a large number.

They cut down the mainmast.

Just 196 years ago last May, the British man-of-war Wager sailed near the coast of southern Chile. It was under command of Captain Chapeau.

A storm arose. The waves grew high, and the wind blew hard. Some of the topsails were torn from the yards in the fury of the gale.

Through the night, the sailors fought the storm. About 4 o'clock in the morning the ship struck bottom. The rolling breakers struck it one after another, and at length it became free. Then the sailors found that the rudder was broken, and the pilot could not steer. An effort was made to adjust the sails so the vessel would go toward shore, and this was partly successful. In a little while, it passed between two rocks, and was wedged between them, not a great distance from land. To keep the vessel from being blown over on its side, the sailors cut down the mainmast.

The captain ordered the lifeboats to be lowered, and too many men crowded into the first one. It almost turned over when it touched the water, but was righted and took the men safely to the coast. Other boats followed.

When the men on the shore were counted, it was found they numbered 140. Although they did not learn the fact until later, they were on an island, not on the mainland.

Looking about, they saw they had landed beside a bay. Behind them rose a mountain which they named Mount Misery.

One of the men explored the nearby woods and came upon a hut which had been built by Indians, but had been deserted. This gave shelter to a few men, but the rest saw no way of guarding themselves from rainfall—until a carpenter thought of overturning the "cutter." It was fixed on props, and made a fairly good "house" for some of the rest of the men.

More important was the question of food. Very little had been brought from the Wager—only a few bags of biscuits broken into powder. The waves were too high, for a time, to go back to the vessel, so the shipwrecked men had to live mainly on what food they could find ashore. Seagulls were shot, and wild celery was picked. Limpets and other shellfish were found along the shore.

One day, three canoes were seen coming toward the island. They were filled with Indians. (For Adventure section of your scrapbook.)

Riddles, games and puzzles will be found in the "Funmaker" leaflet. If you would like a copy send a 3-cent stamped, return envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Never Too Late To Get Married

Dorothy Dix

But Be Sure to Stay in Age Class

AN EMINENT DIVORCE COURT JUDGE declares that marriage of persons past 60 years of age should be prohibited by law. Oh, fie, Judge! Have a heart. Because one rich old man has married a flapper under the fond delusion she loved him for himself alone, or one old woman has invested her late husband's insurance money in a gigolo, don't doom all the sixtyish to lonely old ages.

Your own experience must have taught you that neither age nor brains nor previous condition of servitude seems to have the slightest effect on an individual in picking out a mate. We see senile grandpas and school boys making the same mistakes. Shrewd men of the world and learned college professors display the same lack of judgment that morons do. Men and women who have had two or three divorces apiece keep on being repeaters.

There is no especial period of life when men and women are marriage-wise and exempt from making mistakes in choosing their partners, but if there is going to be any time limit put upon wedding bells they should be forbidden to ring out for those in their teens, not for those in their 60s. Statistics show that a hundred boy-and-girl marriages go on the rocks where one old man and woman marriage suffers a like fate. Puppy love peters out oftener than does congenial friendship.

The Judge who believes that all people of 60 should be prevented from marrying also forgets that 60 is not age now as it used to be. It is not the winter of life. It is just the Indian Summer. There was a time when men and women of 60 were supposed to be senile and doddering, with no further interest in life and nothing to do but to sit in a corner and reflect on their latter end. But most of the sixtyish you know are as frisky as you please; up on their toes going places and doing things, and they haven't the slightest intention of dying for the next fifteen or twenty years.

Half of the men who run the country and carry on the big enterprises are 60 or over, and they are just as capable of picking out a wife as they ever were, which may not be saying much, but what man at what age knows what kind of a package he is going to draw out of the matrimonial grab-bag.

Personally, I am strong for elderly people marrying, provided they marry in their own class. For an old man to marry a young girl, or for an elderly woman to acquire a boy husband is a fatal mistake, because in such cases they are inevitably bound to miss the one thing for which they married, and that is companionship.

To have that, two people must have the same background, the same traditions. That is impossible when one belongs to one generation and the other to another. There can be no greater bar between a man and woman than not being able to say to each other, "don't you remember?"

Young people find something ludicrous in grey-haired old men and women getting married but, in reality, it is the old who need marriage more than the young, because they must find their happiness in their homes. The young can go out and hunt up amusement and diversion, but the old must spend their evenings by their firesides and it is a dreary and lonely thing to do if there is not some one to bear one company, and to listen with unabated interest while one retells old stories that he or she has heard a hundred times.

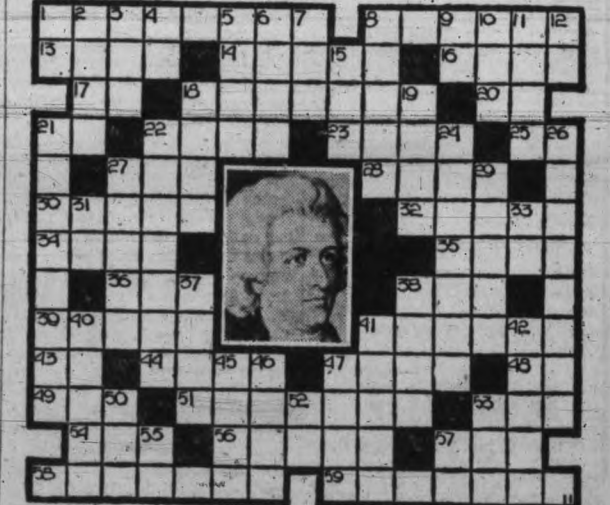

Particularly should there be no bar raised against the marriage of widows and widowers in their sixties, because no man and woman who have ever been at the heads of their own houses are ever contented in anybody else's home. They want the freedom, the sense of command, the privilege of doing their own ways, and this they can only have under their own roofs. Never in their children's homes. And it makes for the happiness not only of themselves, but of their children and grandchildren when they team up with some other lonely old widow or widower and start housekeeping again.

It is a long, dark road, that last lap of the journey of life. Happy the old man and woman who can find a companion to tread it with them.

DOROTHY DIX.

Wheelchair To Be Built Here

The motor-driven wheelchair which will be presented to Leonard Metcalfe, crippled Causeway newsboy, after the benefit entertainment on the Showboat Saturday evening, will be constructed locally, Frank Bickford announced this morning.

Mr. Bickford and the committee in charge of purchasing the wheelchair found no suitable ready-made vehicle was available, but Edmond Allen of the Precision Machine Shop, volunteered to build a gasoline-powered wheelchair, free of charge except for materials.

Leonard Metcalfe's new chair will be weather-proof and comfortably upholstered, with plenty of space for newspapers. Gasoline consumption, Mr. Allen has promised, will be exceedingly low, and all controls will be worked by hand. The engine will be equipped with a hand-starter to enable the young newspaper salesman to start without leaving his seat.

A fine programme of music and comedy has been drawn up for Saturday evening's benefit show. Among the popular artists who will contribute to the entertainment are: Alf Adams and Gladys Mavius, members of the Harvesters troupe; Betti Clair and the Baby Sextette, and a quartette from the Victoria Male Voice Choir.

On a regular inspection visit of the company's hotels in Canada, H. F. Matthews, director of Canadian Pacific Hotels, arrived this morning at the Empress for a few days' stay. This morning Mr. Matthews conferred with J. K. Hodges, Empress manager. He is accompanied by his secretary, William Reynolds.

A few moments before it was to be put on the midnight boat for Vancouver a car owned by G. N. Cady, Nelson, was stolen from the G.P.R. baggage wharf last night. The theft was reported to city police at 10 minutes before midnight. The car is a maroon-colored Buick, 1937 model. The licence number is 39-988.

Gordon B. Ralston, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Ralston, was recently presented at Centennial Sunday school with a pin denoting five years' participation in national Sunday school temperance contests. An appeal was issued today by the city relief department for clothing of all descriptions to meet the pressing needs of Victoria's indigents. Men's and women's apparel, particularly large sizes for women, and school clothing for children are sought. Those able to assist the department by providing clothes are asked to communicate with the office by telephoning Garden 8104.

Low forest fire losses went hand in hand with cool, cloudy weather generally throughout the province last week, the B.C. forest branch reported today. Fifty-six fires occurred, compared with 117 the previous week, and brought to 780 the total for the year, as compared with 1,033 at this date last year. There were 32 fires still burning at the week-end and 61 were extinguished during the week.

The Imperial Veterans' Association, Victoria Branch, will hold a picnic in collaboration with the ladies' auxiliary, at the Willows Beach Sunday afternoon. It was decided at an executive meeting last night. Col. K. W. Savory, D.S.O., western president of the organization, will visit the city shortly, accompanied by W. C. Ellerton, organizing secretary for British Columbia. It was announced. They will make official reports of the recent convention at Brantford to the next general meeting of the local branch.

Men Named For Harbor Talk

Captain E. Alkman, general superintendent of Canadian Pacific Steamships, Vancouver, will head a delegation from the Vancouver Chamber of Shipping, which will confer with a committee of the local Chamber of Commerce on the proposed deepening of Victoria's outer harbor.

The conference will take place in the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow.

Other members of the Vancouver delegation are D. M. Cameron and J. H. Hamilton.

The committee of the local chamber headed by Walter Miles and includes W. M. Allan, H. T. Barnes, H. B. Elworthy, James Macfarlane, Capt. R. W. McMur-ray, D. D. McTavish, Duncan MacBride and Harold Husband.

Tomorrow's conference will be the first definite action toward improving Victoria's harbor conditions in many years. Reddressing around the Rithet and Canadian National Ogden Point has been advocated by many ships' captains calling here.

Recently Captain T. V. Hill, commander of the motorship Aorangi, when speaking of the possibility of larger liners being put on the Canadian-Australian run, pointed out that a uniform depth of 35 feet would make berthing of big ships easier.

NO BLAME FOR MINE MISHAP

Friction Dust Affected
Brakes on Copper Mountain Hoist

No person is held responsible by James Dickson, chief inspector of mines, for the accident at Copper Mountain Mine on August 4, in which a cage hoist fell, injuring 17 men.

Mr. Dickson submitted his report on the accident today to Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Mines, who made it public.

Mr. Dickson said: "After investigating this accident I am of the opinion that while primarily due to the breaking of the main tie bolt of the friction clutch when the men were being hoisted the following partial failure of the brakes, both manual and automatic, was largely due to dust thrown out by released friction getting on to the braking surface of the brake shoes and the hoist drum braking surface and thereby preventing a proper braking contact.

"The mechanism of the hand brake and the automatic brake were examined and did not show any defect.

"While the hoistman apparently applied the hand brake as soon as possible it is very probable that the noise created by the breaking tie bolt and the dust raised by this caused a momentary delay which allowed the cage to gather sufficient momentum to prevent the dust-affected braking surfaces from controlling the cage fully.

"The fact that there was sufficient tension on the hoisting rope to prevent the safety catches on the cage from coming into operation would indicate that the brake retarded the cage although failing to bring the four-ton load to rest.

"As a precaution against a similar occurrence the hoist drum will be fastened direct to the hoist and the friction contact eliminated.

"As a result of my investigation I am satisfied that the examination and reports of the condition of this hoist, as required by the Metalliferous Mines Regulation Act, were fully carried out and that no person is responsible for this unusual accident."

TO RECEIVE ASSESSMENTS

Notices of Property Valuations For 1938 Taxation in City to Be Mailed Saturday

1938 city assessment notices will be mailed on Saturday, George A. Okell, city assessor-collector, stated today.

The notices will cover the valuation of city property on which next year's taxes will be collected.

The assessor-collector was silent on the trend the assessments would show this year, preferring not to disclose the movement upward or downward until after compilation of official figures.

In certain quarters it was thought the tendency towards reductions would be continued for next year, although others pointed to the fact that home improvement work, carried out under the nation-wide scheme, had enhanced the value of certain holdings which might be graded on a higher scale for the purposes of taxation next year.

CLEAN HEALTH BILL IN CITY

Best Record in Victoria For Five Years

For a period of two and one-half weeks ending today the city has been free of any communicable disease, even in a mild form according to records of the city health department.

On the last two Saturdays, when reports have been filed, no illness has been listed. The record stands for at least five years and probably longer.

Today, however, Dr. Richard Felton, medical health officer, was called to attend an adult suffering from a mild attack of chickenpox. It was the first adult case recorded this year despite the prevalence of that illness among juveniles earlier in the year.

While the city boasted its clean health slate, similar conditions prevailed at the Isolation Hospital. Except for a Vancouver indigent suffering from measles, who was quarantined to avoid spread of the disease, the unit has been without patients for the entire months of June and July. It was understood the period also established a record here.

INDIANS ORDER FISHERMEN OFF

Challenge Anglers on Reservation at Cowichan

Indians of the Cowichan Reserve are up in arms against all fishermen who invade their reserve to fish that portion of the Cowichan River which flows through the reservation, regardless of whether they are in possession of government permits granting them permission to trespass, and as a result a number of fishermen of late have been approached by several members of the tribe and told to get off their property.

The action of the tribesmen, H. Graham, Indian agent for the Cowichan Agency, reported this morning, is a protest against the federal government's ruling last year which abolished the use of weirs, a method commonly used by Indians to catch fish. In place of the weirs the tribes have been granted licenses to use gaffs and gill-nets but a number of them resented being deprived of one of their oldest and most effective devices for catching fish.

Mr. Graham says anglers are within their rights to fish on the reservation so long as they have purchased the required $1 permit and should they be molested by the tribesmen have every right to demand police protection.

There has been no violence as yet between the tribesmen and anglers but should one of the anglers become resentful of the reserve men's actions and refuse to leave there might be trouble. It is reported also that Duncan people have been forbidden to swim in their favorite swimming hole at the Duncan Road Bridge.

A weir consists of a fence built across the river to prevent salmon and trout from passing and the Indians sit atop this and spear them or catch them with dip nets. Efforts have been made by local parties for a renewal of the use of weirs but latest word from Ottawa is a definite refusal.

FIND HUSBAND OF SICK WIFE

Provincial Police Locate Vacationist on Wallace Island; Flies Home

A dramatic search for a vacationist whose wife was dying ended early this morning when a police patrol boat found him camping on an island off Vancouver Island. Later today he boarded a plane to rush to the bedside of his wife.

On Monday J. Wetsell of Concord, Films, Hollywood, left Port Angeles for a holiday trip to Victoria. At 6.30 yesterday evening George Warren, secretary of the Publicity Bureau, received a telephone call from the secretary of the Port Angeles Chamber of Commerce, asking him to locate Mr. Wetsell as his wife had been suddenly taken seriously ill.

Mr. Warren telephoned all the hotels and auto camps in Victoria. He got CFCT and even CNRV, Vancouver, to broadcast appeals, but without success. He then turned to the provincial police.

Within four hours the police "had their man." They found Mr. Wetsell and his son camping on Wallace Island, between Galiano and Pender islands.

Cut off from civilization, Mr. Wetsell might not have been found so soon had he not been friendly and told Constable W. A. Jaffray about his camping plans. Constable Jaffray identified Mr. Wetsell from the description given by Mr. Warren, and Constable F. W. B. Boyd, Ganges, was instructed to pick him up in the police patrol boat.

The five were found by Sgt. James Peterson and Constable George Clayards while on patrol duty in Beacon Hill Park.

new appointee. He will be stationed at Prince Rupert, bringing to 21 the number of school inspectors under the department.

The fall show of the British Columbia Rabbit Breeders' Association was discussed at a meeting of the rabbit breeders in the home of F. P. Boucher, Belleville Street, yesterday evening.

The show will be held in conjunction with the Provincial Exhibition, at the Willows, from September 11 to 18.

C. Woolley was chosen judge. Mr. Boucher was appointed show superintendent with D. Doudge as his assistant.

In addition to 300 rabbits, arrangements were made for displays of wool and demonstrations of weaving. Many new members of the association signified their intention of showing this year.

M.C.C. WINS SECOND MATCH

Touring English Cricketers Defeat Winnipeg Side By Three Wickets

WINNIPEG—The touring Marylebone Cricket Club team was scheduled to meet a Winnipeg St. George eleven again today, the concluding match of its stay in the Manitoba city. In a close tussle yesterday the English cricketers defeated the Winnipeggers by three wickets.

The victory was the second for the tourists since the opening game of the series which will take them to the Pacific Coast. At Waterloo, Ont., they had a margin of four wickets over Western Ontario. Four other matches were played in Ontario, the M.C.C. losing to Hon. R. C. Matthews' Canadian eleven by 10 wickets while three games were drawn.

More than 1,000 spectators saw the English team triumph in the first match ever played in western Canada by a representative M.C.C. side.

Bowlers were on top throughout the day. Both teams were forced to "sit on the spillo" so keen was the attack on a drying wicket. Captain G. C. Newman decided to put the home team in first and his tactics were successful as the Canadians were dismissed for a meagre 81. When the M.C.C. went in after lunch runs were just as hard to get and seven wickets had fallen before the winning hit was made. The Englishmen finished their innings for 124.

Honors for the match went to D. W. A. Forbes, the Eton bowler, and C. J. Bligh of the St. George team. Forbes dismissed six Winnipeg players for 31 and the young Manitoban took five for 53. Other successful trundlers were J. T. Neve, M.C.C.'s fast bowler, who captured four for 39, and E. W. Howes, St. George's, who bagged three for 23.

Chevalier In Plaza Picture

"The Beloved Vagabond," Columbia's musical romance starring Maurice Chevalier, will head the new screen bill at the Plaza Theatre starting tomorrow.

The film is a free adaptation of W. J. Locke's widely read novel, directed for the screen by Kurt Bernhardt. Seen in the large cast are Margaret Lockwood, Betty Stockfield, Desmond Tester and Austin Trevor.

The setting of the film's action shifts from aristocratic London to the French countryside, where Chevalier seeks to forget an unhappy love affair.

Chevalier sings a number of the gay French tunes which have always been his forte and carries on romantically in the mood of "The Smiling Lieutenant" and "Innocents of Paris."

One of the highlights of this Teaplotz production is a veritable fashion parade of gowns by Schiaparelli and R. E. Stern. The songs were written by Mireille and Heymann, continental favorites.

"Thirty-six Hours to Kill," starring Gloria Stuart and Brian Donlevy is the second picture.

DOMINION THEATRE
Patrons of the Dominion Theatre yesterday were distinctly amused by the unique complications of a new comedy-romance called "Married Before Breakfast," which came from the studios of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.
